March 28. CORKER.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular free.

The country at large was startled Tuesday morning to read in the press dispatches from Washington of the sudden demise of Associate Justice David Josiah Brewer of the United States Supreme court, who died at his residence in the Capital city of apoplexy, at 10:30 o'clock Monday night. Judge Brewer was born in Asia. He graduated from Yale University in 1856, and from the Albany (N. Y.) Law School in 1858. He received the degree of LL. D. from the University of Iowa in 1884, Washburn College 1888, Yale in 1901, University of Wisconsin 1900, Wesleyan University 1901, University of Vermont 1904. He was appointed to the Supreme Bench by President Benjamin Harrison to succeed Justice Stanley Matthews, taking his seat January 6, 1901. After his graduation from Albany Law School, in 1858, he studied law under his uncle, David Dudley Field, in New York, and later entered upon the practice of law at Leavenworth, Kansas. There he was made Commissioner of the United States Circuit Court in 1861, Judge of the Probate and Criminal Courts of Leavenworth county 1867-70 and Judge of the Kansas Supreme Court 1870-1884. He was lawyer, lecturer and linguist, and always popular as an after dinner speaker. He was also an author, among his works being "The Pen to the Pulpit," "The Twentieth Century from Another Viewpoint," and "The United States a Christian Nation."

The Winchester Democrat, which for twenty years has been successfully conducted by Biehn & Donovan, with the issue of Tuesday passed into the hands of its new owners, Tim Needham, formerly of the Williamstown Courier, and Robert Nelson, for several years past connected with the Government Printing office at Washington, Mr. Needham being the editor and Mr. Nelson business manager. We are glad to note also that Charles Lyddane, for several years editor of the Democrat under Biehn & Donovan's regime, is to be local editor under the new management. The Democrat is one of the best papers that comes to us in exchange and we congratulate the new proprietors upon its acquirement, and predict that they will hold it up to its high standard of excellence. The paper is fifty-two years old and enjoys a splendid patronage, especially since it became a semi-weekly.

All our subscribers are urgently requested not to overlook the matter of paying up arrearages and as much in advance as possible. We need the money to run the business and make improvements. Those who read THE HERALD weekly and are not subscribers are respectfully asked to become subscribers and help the good cause along.

Governor Willson signed the bill making capital punishment death by electrocution instead of hanging. The measure carries with it an appropriation of $7,000 to instal the necessary apparatus and goes into effect June 15 next.

J. T. Day left yesterday for Jackson, Tenn., Winchester and Mt. Sterling, at all of which places he has business to attend to. Mr. Howe, who leased the L. Park Hotel at Tarrant recently, is also manager of the J. T. Day store there, and as head salesman has a brother of J. T. Whaley, of our town, in charge. Mr. Whaley hails from Cynthiana, where he has been clerking for a long time, and is, therefore, experienced in the business. We do not know his front name.

Memphis, Tenn., March 21, 1910.
Dear Mr. Cooper: Enclosed find one dollar ($1.00) for renewal of THE HERALD. With best wishes,

FRANK TRIMBLE.

Asa Ewing, the new man at the racket store, is a brother of Cliff Ewing, the stationary engineer and general utility man with machinery and saw mills. He has a wife and two children, who are expected here in a few days, and Mrs. Ewing will take charge of Mr. Day's Hazel Green Hotel while her husband runs the racket store. On behalf of the citizens we welcome this family to our midst and hope the ladies of our town will call upon and make Mrs. Ewing feel at home.

What is there in the art of fishing that makes the sport so destructive to man's voracity? Always the biggest fish get away.

How Deal With Opportunity.

Thou shalt not go about thy business looking like a bum; personal appearance is a good letter of recommendation.

Thou shalt not try to make excuses and rebuke those who chide thee.

Thou shalt not have to be told what to do.

Thou shalt not covet another fellow's job, nor his salary, nor the position which he has got through hard work.

Thou shalt not fail to maintain thine own integrity, or do anything that will lessen thine own self-respect.

Thou shalt not fail to live within thine own income.

Thou shalt not fail to blow thine own horn on the proper occasion.

Thou shalt not hesitate to say "No," when thou meanest "No."

Thou shalt give every man a square deal.

This is none like, but is the last and greatest, and there is none like unto it. Upon it hangs the whole law and profits of a successful business career.

If you look upon your college course as simply a means of raising your commercial value, it will not help you to real success. To have one's mentality stirred by the possession for expansion; to be dragged out of the narrow rut of ignorance; to feel one's life grow larger, wider and fuller—this is success.

One of the greatest questions a human being is called upon to decide is the choice of a career. It affects one's entire character and destiny. No graduate can afford to choose an occupation merely because there is money in it, but he must learn to look upon his vocation as only a means of making a living. He must learn that not living-making or fame-making but man-making, woman-making, character-making, is necessary, as the blind Helen Keller is making here. The building of manhood and womanhood overtops position, wealth, vocation and titles, and is the most grand of all careers.

KENTUCKY KERNELS

Carefully Collected and Concisely Chronicled.

The contract for building a sewerage system of about ten miles, in Mt. Sterling, was let to Paul & Karshner, Dayton, Ohio, for $50,000. Bonds to pay for same were floated last January.

While sitting at a table with his back to an open grate, the dressing gown of C. W. Harris, former mayor of Mt. Sterling, became ignited, and before he could get the gown off was severely burned about the hips and shoulders.

A strong gas well was drilled in last week on Mrs. Agnes Rothwell's farm, in Menifee county. The gas was ignited and a flame eight or ten feet high lit up the country from Friday until Monday, when it was extinguished.

In a head on collision between two freight trains, on the L. & N. railroad near White's station, midway between Berea and Richmond, three men killed outright, one perhaps fatally scalded, and eight others more or less severely injured.

Seated alone by a grate fire in her daughter's home, in Louisville, Mrs. Elizabeth Dillard, aged 73 years, accidentally flounced her skirt into the fire and was at once enveloped in flames. She was literally roasted before aid could reach her.

Carlisle has been struck with a building boom. A large number of houses are under construction and many more are contracted for. The town treasurer in his annual report shows a balance of $300 in the treasury with no outstanding indebtedness.

The large stock barn of W. F. Byrd, near Mt. Sterling, was totally destroyed by fire last week. Six fine horses and a jack were cremated, and a lot of feed and farm implements were consumed. The building was owned by the Drake heirs, of Mt. Sterling.

Green R. Keller, the veteran editor of the Carlisle Mercury, has issued his annual proclamation announcing May 17 as "rat killing day" to be observed by the people of Nicholas county. On a similar occasion last year over 50,000 of the rodents were killed.

In a round-up of drunk and disorderlies at Williamstown last Sunday, Jailer Edmund Landrum was caught in the meshes and the police judge fined him $1 and costs. He refused to liquidate, turned the jail keys over to the sheriff, and was locked up. Later he repented and paid the bill.

While bending over a 200-gallon tank of gasoline, George Janka, an employee of a cleaning house, in Louisville, dropped sparks from his pipe into the tank and it exploded. Janka was badly burned, but, with remarkable nerve, first turned in a fire alarm, and then ran to a drug store. He will recover.

William McCullough and James Goins engaged in a street fight in Corbin and were arrested. When being taken to the lock-up Goins broke away from the officers and shot McCullough, killing him instantly. Lee Reid, a friend of McCullough, pulled his pistol and shot Goins, who died within an hour. Reid escaped.

The old Dr. Shirley residence in Winchester was razed last week to make room for the new government building. It was probably the oldest house in Winchester, as no one there can tell when it was built. Eighty years ago it was used as a hotel. In the course of demolition workmen unearthed an old almanac for the year 1825 in a good state of preservation.

A most unusual occurrence is reported from Glasgow in the following special: "While pruning his fruit trees Haden Keitner, of Adair county, found a large apple on the tree. The supposition is that the apple was grown last season and remained on the tree all winter, a most remarkable and singular occurrence, as apples grown in this section are kept with difficulty, if at all, and to hang on the tree all winter exposed and keep perfectly sound is almost beyond belief."

An interesting relic owned by the children of the late James Duncan, of Bourbon county, is a receipt for taxes for the year 1803. The receipt was issued to Capt. James Duncan, an officer in the revolutionary war, by John L. Hickman, clerk of the County court, and reads as follows: "To 622 acres of first rate land, valued at 62 1/2 cents per acre, $414; to 625 acres third rate land, valuation 16 7/10 per acre, 98; to 11 leveys each 25 cts., $2.75; to 12 slaves, valued at 12 1/2 cents each, $1.50; to 14 horses, valued at 4 cents each, 56 cents. A total of $9.98."

Is Prospering in the East.

Newark, N. J., March 23, '10.
Dear Mr. Cooper: Through the columns of the dear old HERALD I wish to express my deep sorrow at the death of Matilee Rose and Mrs. Clayton Center. Both were warm friends of mine and words I cannot find to express the shadow of sadness which falls around me at such unexpected news. Their relatives and friends have my deepest sympathy.

I am still in the east, and am prospering. Am now stenographer and bookkeeper for the Newark Rubber Manufacturing Co., of this city, a very large concern, and I feel that my success is assured. I have been with them all this year, and my salary is being continually increased, while my work is very light and hours from 9:00 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. with one and one half hours noon. I have made many eastern friends through the colleges, lodges, and churches with which I have been associated. I am still a Maccabee and have joined the Pocahontas order of this city. I am, therefore, better protected. I find the eastern people very, very sociable and kind. Our population is near 400,000 and we are well located. The salt air is very beneficial to me, and although the winter has been very severe, we are now enjoying glorious sunshine above the blue waters.

I will spend Easter in New York City as we are to have the greatest floral decorations the city has ever known. Much has been collected for this great day.

I have just returned from home, where I spent three weeks as mother was very ill. While there I made arrangements to invest my past and future salary in real estate of that little city, as its beauty so attracted me. So at last, my home will not be so far from old Kentucky, and when I return south in the fall I expect to make your dear vine clad hills and Hazel Green a visit.

With best wishes for yourself and Mrs. Cooper and regards to all my friends, especially the academy, I am, cordially yours,
ARTHA LAKE DYE.

Now that spring has fairly opened would it not be proper for the town trustees to announce a day for the general cleaning up of the town?

Throat Coughs

Ask your doctor about these throat coughs. He will tell you how deceptive they are. A tickling in the throat often means serious trouble ahead. Better explain your case carefully to your doctor, and ask him about your taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

THE HERALD.

Sebron Walters a few day ago sold to Ollie Nickell a 3-year-old filly for $125.

Miss Carrie Rose left Monday for Jackson to visit her brother, C. B. Rose, and wife.

Asa Ewing, of Torrent, is in charge of Taylor Day's racket store. Look for ad next week.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

John M. Rose this week bought up a bunch of hogs, about 85, and some of them extra nice ones, at 8 1/2 to 10 cents a pound.

J. T. Day did not advertise his racket store this week on account of delay in certain arrangements, but will do so in next issue.

John M. Rose last week improved his dwelling by treating it to a new emerald roof, and the appearance of it is quite attractive.

Jim Lacy, who has been doing some repair work on L. Park Hotel and other buildings at Torrent for two weeks past, came home Saturday.

Luther Murphy, of Mt. Sterling, and Charlie Rose, of the place, Saturday bought up a bunch of stock hogs, averaging about 125 pounds, at 8 1/2 cents.

Rev. James Madden, of Stillwater, will preach at Rose Chapel, on Lacy creek, every second Sunday at 8:00 o'clock in the afternoon. Everybody is invited.

Bill Foreman and wife left Tuesday for West Liberty, where they will visit with friends of Mr. Foreman and among relatives of his wife this week and perhaps longer.

Last Thursday afternoon THE HERALD sanctum had as a social caller Rev. K. K. Spencer, of Lee City, who took special delight in renewing his subscription to the Old Reliable.

Prof. Willoughby, of Indiana, came in Saturday, and will take the place of Miss Hines as teacher in the academy, she being compelled to resign on account of the loss of her voice.

Fire at Wrigley, the terminus of the railroad from Morehead, and about ten miles from West Liberty, destroyed a storehouse and dwelling Friday, but we have not heard the particulars.

The census enumerators will soon be around. Don't be afraid to tell them your troubles and answer all questions as the constitution requires it. The government guarantees strict secrecy.

Bethel, Ky., March 25 '10. Spencer Cooper, Hazel Green, Ky. Dear Sir: Find enclosed C. P. & Co. check for $2, which amount you will place to my credit on THE HERALD. With best wishes, Resp., W. H. PIERATT.

Prof. Pogue, of West Liberty, preached at the Christian church Saturday night and Sunday to good congregations. Friday night Rev. Leander Lacy held services at the same church, and being an old-time favorite was greeted with a good congregation.

He Needs Help.

Hiram Blankenship, who lives on the Swango fork of Grassy creek, had the misfortune Thursday morning last to lose his barn with all its contents. The loss, which is total, is variously estimated at $1,000 to $1,400. He lost four horses, two of which he had been offered $300 for and the two others were worth, perhaps, $100 each. Two milk cows, valued at $80, a farm wagon with gear, plows, harrows, etc., about 300 to 400 bushels of corn, a lot of hay, and several hundred bushels of sheaf oats. What makes the loss especially hard on Mr. Blankenship is the fact that he had been practically broken up in paying medical bills for a sick wife, and was just getting out of debt when the fire wiped out all he had accumulated. Several neighbors have donated to a fund to help him, but he will need assistance from many more to put him on his feet, as it were, and all who are disposed to contribute anything for him are urged to do so. They can leave their contributions at this office or with any merchant in town and the same will be handed to him.

Farewell Social.

A farewell social given by Mrs. Hal Smith March 17 in honor of Misses Ella and Viola Center was largely attended. Those present were: Misses Ella and Viola Center, Mary and Bessie Smallwood, Mattie Bohanan, Frances Nickell, Virginia Day, Ora Campbell, Myrtle McClure, Carrie Center, Myrtle Cecil, Lula Nickell, Anna Center and Mrs. J. H. Williams and little daughter, Vivian; Earnest Swango, Scott McClure, Jesse Kash, Daniel Center, Elisha Chambers, Estill Fugate, John Arnett, Ova Johnson and Charlie Keiser. Misses Mary and Bessie Smallwood assisted in receiving and entertaining the guests. Every one seemed to enjoy every moment of the time. The young people are always glad of an opportunity to be with Mrs. Smith. One Who Was There.

Stallion Show Day.

The many breeders of this section will be glad to learn that all men who have stallions for service this season will bring their horses here Saturday, April 9, 1910, as is the custom in the blue grass. This exhibition of the horses will enable prospective breeders to see the good points of each individual horse. They can then compare pedigrees and the individual merits of each horse and make up their minds to which they will breed. This plan is bound to result in the best for all parties, and it is hoped every man who owns a stallion within 15 miles of Hazel Green will have his horse here that day. Don't forget day and date—Saturday, April 9.

NOTICE

To All Overseers of the Public Roads in Wolfe County.

I hereby call your attention to your duties in regard to your section of roads as the time of year has come to have your road put in repair. I do not want to take a rule against you, but unless you put your road in repair by the April term of the Wolfe County court a rule will be taken against you and a fine will be certainly entered against all who fail to have their section of road in repair at that term of court. So you better get a move on yourself. W. B. DUFF, Judge W. C.

Death of Mrs. Johnson.

Mrs. Caroline Johnson, wife of A. F. Johnson, of Lacy creek, whose illness has been reported in these columns for several weeks past, died at the residence of her son, Ellis Johnson, in Hazel Green, Sunday night about 8 o'clock with catarrh of the stomach. She was about 66 years old and leaves a large family of children, three boys and seven girls, all of whom, and nearly all married, are of age, and her husband, Prof. Roberts, preached her funeral Monday at 1 o'clock p. m., and her remains were laid to rest in the old home graveyard, on Lacy creek, Monday afternoon.

IMPROVE YOUR CHICKENS.—I have Rhode Island Reds, at which cost $1 each; Yellow and Brown Leghorns, 50 cents each, and pure Plymouth Rocks, 50 cents each. They are mixed some; a setting of 17 eggs, 35 cents. Apply to Mrs. LULA KASH, Hazel Green, Ky.

Tom Lee while breaking a plank Monday had one piece of it him in the left eye, or the corner of it, and knock him down. It made him sick and he thought he had lost the sight of it, but after he bathed the wound he was happy to discover that his sight was o. k.

Many business men, farmers and stock dealers have asked us to again try and get up an interest in the Hazel Green stock sales, which were once so popular here and of such general interest to the people. Horse show day, April 9, will be a good time to ascertain the sentiment of the people.

Owen Coldiron failed to go to his Slate Creek farm, in Montgomery, as was a few weeks ago announced he would. Instead, he is breaking ground and preparing for a crop on Laurel farm. The presumption is that the Slate deal is off. Things look like Owen had backed out, anyhow.

Mrs. Elmer Jones, who has been at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Caroline Johnson, who died Sunday night, left for her home at Rardin, Ill., Wednesday. She was accompanied by her brother, Ellis Johnson's, little daughter, Mary, who will stay with her an indefinite period.

John Robinson, who was taken to Lexington a week or so ago to have cataracts taken from his eyes, returned home without an operation being performed. The doctor gave him some drops to strengthen the optic nerve, which he claimed was the cause of the trouble. Meantime Mr. Robinson is totally blind.

Remember that Saturday, April 9th, is horse show day at Hazel Green, and be sure to be on hand, especially if you own a stable horse or contemplate breeding. A big crowd is anticipated and it will probably lead to a revival of the Hazel Green stock sales, which were formerly so popular. Come and see us.

Zelph Childers, son of Logan Childers, of Gillmore, who was attending the academy and boarding with C. F. Kash and wife, was yesterday removed to his home. He had been complaining for several days, and Tuesday his pulse was only about 48, so it was tho't best to take him home in event he developed a case of fever.

George Rice fell Tuesday from the joists of the second floor of his shop to the joists of the lower floor, striking one of them across his breast near the heart. Dr. Williams was called to see him, and says if the internal injuries are not serious he will soon recover, but that he will be quite sore for several days. He thinks, however, his liver may be affected.

Capt. Jack Rittenhouse left Sunday to take possession of the farm he bought near Loveland, Ohio, and get ready to put out a crop of tobacco. His wife left Monday morning and they will be domiciled in their new home ere this paper is printed. Jolly John Pieratt meantime is in charge of Rittenhouse Ranch and will entertain all visitors to Swango Spring.

Horse and Jack Bills.

During the past week THE HERALD Job department printed cards for the following parties:

Corolus Chaney, on the Nickell fork of Grassy, near Daysboro, for his fine jack Gray John.

J. Loring Nickell, one mile west of the old Isaac Murphy farm, on Grassy, the combined stallion Ned Forest.

W. C. Sebastian, at Daysboro, combined saddle and harness stallion Selim, and the fine young, jack Dempsey.

K. M. Couch, on Grassy, thoroughbred stallion Hallomas; German coach stallion Batalmus, and Percheron stallion King George.

All the above is fine stock and will be on exhibition at the horse show in Hazel Green on April 9.

A Letter From Miss McNabb.

A private letter from Miss Belle McNabb, who left here on Monday, the 21st inst., stated that she arrived at Charleston, Ill., safely and is happily domiciled with a family by the name of Craig, the members of which all treat her as one of the family, and every way make her feel that it is her home. She likes the people of the town generally very much, and the Craig family especially. She writes Post Wilson that she will work up a list of subscribers for THE HERALD there among former Kentuckians, and earn some pin money in percentage.

Protracted Meeting By Bro. Lacy.

Rev. Leander Lacy began a meeting at the Christian church here Monday night, and being asked by "Our Man About Town" how long the meeting would continue, he replied that it would depend upon the interest manifested. If the congregations present each night so far indicate interest the meeting will be protracted for quite awhile. But Mr. Lacy is quite a favorite with the people here and it may be that personal magnetism draws them out. Anyhow, they are bettered by doing so, and the good work should go on.

Destructive Fire at Jackson.

Fire at Jackson, Saturday night, destroyed property to the value of between $75,000 and $100,000. Among the property destroyed was the Bach Hotel, run by Mrs. Wyatt as a boarding house. Many of the guests had retired and when the alarm was given some of them jumped from second story windows in their night clothes. Other property destroyed embraced the Jew store, W. W. McGuire's law office and three other stores. There was a light insurance on some of the buildings, but in most cases the loss was total.

Fire at West Liberty.

Jahiza Haney's barn at West Liberty was burned Friday and during the conflagration set fire to the barn of Will Gevedon, which was also burned. Mr. Haney lost a horse and cow and a lot of forage, but we did not learn the loss sustained by Mr. Gevedon. There was another barn consumed by the same fire, but we have forgotten the owner's name.

Sold Part of His Farm.

Dr. Taylor Center Monday sold to Judge George W. Wheeler 10 1/2 acres of the Red River bottom he got of Dr. G. M. Center for $450. He had previously sold to Ellis Johnson 10 acres adjoining and lying down the river from the last sold for $500. This is the cheapest land that has been sold in Hazel Green, as the buyers will realize double the money on their purchases.

HOW DEAL WITH OPPORTUNITY.
By L. D. Nickell, From One of Western Kentucky's Commercial Colleges.

It has come. Will you seize it with all the enthusiasm of youth? I picture before me a mighty assembly of young men and women, fired with the ambition of youth, books in hands, upon the very threshold of the school, into which they shall presently enter to prepare themselves for the efficiently discharging of life's arduous duties. The occasion is such as to make us serious and thoughtful. What does it mean?

The meaning is nothing less than this: That the American youth has in the business school, as well as in all the public and private institutions of this great land, an unexcelled opportunity for personal development.

It means that the opportunity has come for to show what sort of material you have in you; it means that you should put yourself on record before your fellow students and instructors as faithful to the discharge of every day duty; anxious to conform, not to the mere letter of the law of your school life, but to enter fully into its spirit to the end that you may become a better citizen and a more efficient factor in the complex commercial life of the twentieth century.

Do not be recreant to your trust. A great responsibility is yours: you are in training for the highest duties of citizenship. May you exhibit that alertness, earnestness and persistence that shall turn every failure to success and give you the supreme satisfaction of having done your best, and your teacher the joy of knowing that his efforts in your behalf have not been fruitless.

The Indian, as he passed through the undergrowth and barking the trees, that those who passed that way after him should be able to avoid the dangers which he had encountered. It is so with the man who has been alone upon the student road. He has noted the pitfalls, snares and mire and may point them out to the unwary student.

I shall mention a few. One is the lack of serious application to study. If you would win, take hold of things with a bull-dog grip and finish what you begin—halfheartedness spells failure. Believe in yourself and that you can and shall accomplish what you have set out to do. The school cannot supply the power; you must do that. Mediocrity must not satisfy you. Concentrate upon your work and attend to whatever problems you have in hand as if there was nothing else in the world worthy of your attention. As some one has said:

"Be in earnest, earnest, earnest—mad, if thou wilt—Do what thou doest, as if the stake were heaven; And it thy last deed ere the judgment day."

Arrange your work for necessary periods of relaxation. Make your schedule so many hours for study; so much time for eating and sleeping, and a certain allotment for physical and mental diversion. Do not forget the needs of the body; the social and the spiritual natures. You must aim to be symmetrically developed—body, mind and spirit. This trinity makes the highest type of citizen or scholar.

Have system in your work. The words that you miss in your spelling lesson today, master before the next lesson; the problem in mathematics that bothered you today, work out before you sleep. Do not let the day pass with duties neglected or half done. Don't make your notes on single pieces of paper and then lose them; keep a book and note the points of importance in your recitation and study the notes and digest the essentials.

Learn to discriminate. Do not try to do everything. Pick out the important things and make them yours for all time and drop the rest. Be careful and on the lookout in your studies for the pivotal points, the underlying principles, and master them. Look upon things in their entirety as much as is possible. Try to see the relationship of the detail to the whole; or confused in a maze of particulars you will inevitably remain lost.

Avoid the indifferent, ease-loving companions. Let them go their way of failure, but keep your path upwards, and "hitch your cart to a star." Get into the right sort of social, intellectual and spiritual environment, that you may grow and not become dwarfed and stunted.

Do all the supplementary reading you can. Whenever a point comes up pertaining to business methods, banking, industrial conditions, the location of a city or a foreign possession, learn all about it that you can then and there. Go to the encyclopedia, the history of ready reference or the dictionary. They will furnish the information. Learn how to use books so that you will not need to read everything on the book shelves of the library.

Don't be a machine. Do things thoughtfully; use your brains. Nature expects you to develop them by use. Exercise your judgment; go at it as if you were responsible for your acts and not your teacher or the class collectively.

Develop these nice little courtesies to your class-mates, which will endear you to them. The manners of a Chesterfield are as valuable an asset in business as a knowledge of accounts or shorthand.

You are the embodiment of the factors of success. Do each day the duties which lie nearest you. Let the results take care of themselves, and above all, try, try, try, and keep on trying; get up when you fall, and push on with pluck. Be hopeful, earnest, tactful, alert—difficulties will vanish, success will come, and the world will be better because you have lived in it, and done your best. Be confident. O, what miracles confidence has wrought! What impossible deeds it has helped to perform. It took Napoleon over the Alps in midwinter; it took Farragut and Dewey past the cannons, torpedoes, and mines of the enemy; it led Nelson and Grant to victory. It has been the great tonic of the world, of thousands of triumphs in war and science, which were deemed impossible.

Never admit defeat or poverty, though you seem to be down and have not a cent. Stoutly assert your right to be a man. Hold firmly the conviction that you possess the qualities requisite for success.

The namby-pamby, nerveless man has little show in the hustling, bustling world of today. In the twentieth century a man must push or be pushed—out of the way. If your college has increased your power to do, and not merely polished you up a little, you will have no difficulty in winning your way. The world wants leaders, thinkers, doers, men of power and action, men who can step out from the crowd and lead instead of following. One sort of discontent has led to all the great things from the time of the earliest Hottentots to that of the Lincolns and Gladstones.

He who has enough of the divine disposition to spur him to the obedience of the ten business commandments will succeed.

Thou shalt not wait for something to turn up, but pull off your coat.
